Example of Search Order:

Bound to the sex trade. 🗨️

By: Davidson, Bradley. Christian Century, August 11 2009, p22-25, 3p

Tips to consider:

- ▶ Plan to begin research early!
- ▶ Be flexible– may need to change search terms.
- ▶ Try to think of research as an adventure– makes the process a bit less intimidating.
- ▶ Call for help if you're stuck!

Connecting to the White Library

▶ www.arbor.edu/whitelibrary

The screenshot shows the White Library website for Spring Arbor University. At the top, there is a search bar labeled "Search the SAU Catalog" with a "Keyword" dropdown and a "Search" button. Below the search bar is a navigation menu with links for Home, News, Find Books, Find Articles, About the Library, and Help!. The main content area features a large banner with the text "White Library" and "Resources 24/7. Choose What You Need", accompanied by "Find Books" and "Find Articles" buttons. Below the banner are three columns of links: "List of Journals @ SAU" (with a sub-link for "Looking for a specific journal article? Search by journal title here. More Info"), "My Library Account" (with sub-links for "Renew books online, save searches, hold materials. More Info"), and "Help!" (with sub-links for "Citation Style Guides, Ask-A-Librarian, Subject Guides. More Info").

Searching for Encyclopedias and Books

Subject Encyclopedias:

- ▶ Hard copy
  - Located in Reference section at SAU Library – Main Campus
- ▶ Digital/Electronic
  - Credo Reference
    - Click on the “Find Articles” tab or button
    - Select “Credo Reference” from the Frequently Used Database list.

Characteristics of subject encyclopedias:

- ▶ Signed article
- ▶ Author’s credentials– experts in field
- ▶ Bibliography
- ▶ Foundation / overview
- ▶ Who sponsored work– reputable publishers

Books

- ▶ Both eBooks and print books can be looked up in the SAU Library Catalog:

4		Human trafficking, human misery : the global trade in human beings / Alexis A. Aronowitz. Aronowitz, Alexis A., 1956- Westport, Conn. : Praeger, 2009.	2009

Retrieving Books

- ▶ Use Library Catalog to search
- ▶ Click book title
- ▶ To request, either mark the record and submit through the catalog, or email saulibrary@gmail.com
- ▶ Books will be delivered to distance students via postal mail.

Retrieving eBooks

- ▶ Use Library Catalog to search
- ▶ Click book title– choose the link inside the record
- ▶ Several different eBook providers:
  - eBrary
  - EBSCO
  - Other

Searching for Journal Articles

Which is It?

Serials / Periodicals

Magazine
(Popular)

Journal
(Scholarly)

Where to Search?

Library Database?

Google Scholar?

Database vs. Google (Scholar)

- ▶ Databases
  - Subscription-access
  - Peer reviewed: Approved by field experts
  - Access to periodical citations & some full text
  - Subject-specific collection (usually).
- ▶ Google
  - Many types of information
  - Anyone can put materials on the web (some false info)
  - Not critiqued
- ▶ Google Scholar
  - Journal articles and chapters/citations for books
  - May provide links to some scholarly material, but often it has to be paid for by the user.
  - Not specific to one area of study

Special Google Scholar Features

- ▶ Setting up Google Scholar to link to SAU resources.
- ▶ Found a seminal work on your topic? Who else has written on it? Look for the Cited Sources link.

Which Database?

Which Database?

AIDS

Business

Which Database?

AIDS

Religion

Medicine

Subject searching vs. keyword searching

Both are useful, but what's the difference?

- ▶ Subject Searching: allows researcher to focus on the primary topic of the overall article.
- ▶ Keyword Searching: allows researcher to search for a particular word anywhere in the text of the article.

Database Limiters

- ▶ Peer reviewed
- ▶ Date ranges
- ▶ Location of subject headings in ProQuest records

PDF vs. HTML

▶ PDF

Photocopy of original journal article.

▶ HTML

Plain text either with or without pictures/graphs/charts.
No distinct page numbers.

Where can I find my article?

- ▶ If the item is in full-text in the database you searched, you will see either a PDF or HTML full text link.
- ▶ If a full-text option is not listed in the database:
  - SFX link or EBSCO A-Z link to search for journal
  - MelCat or ILL

A word about MelCat and ILL

- ▶ Allows us to outsource materials the White Library does not own.
- ▶ Can take extra time to arrive; coming from other libraries. Be sure to plan ahead.
- ▶ Tip: If it looks important and you have at least a couple days you can wait, order it. Find a backup source just in case.

Evaluating Internet Resources

Graphic from <http://www.fastlanepc.com/tutorials/google-is-not-the-internet/>

Everything's on the Internet . . . right?

Whoa there! Not so fast . . .

Pardee & Parsons, 2008

Internet Use

Pros

- Broad range of information
- Wealth of information from large variety of sources
- Quick and easy access
- Some scholarly materials: e.g. Google Scholar
- Great variety of types of sources: statistics, images, photos, videos: e.g. YouTube

Pardee & Parsons, 2008

Internet Use

Cons

- Anyone can add a web page
- Publishers and authors who provide information in the marketplace not likely to offer materials for free on the Internet
- Data can be inaccurate, Unreliable or deliberately false
- Some types of information are not on the Internet
- Web pages are not evaluated, so use must critically analyze each site
- Information important to researchers often not in demand by public, therefore not on Internet

Pardee & Parsons, 2008

Types of Information on the Internet

- Advocacy (.org ; influence opinion ; NRA)
- Marketing (.com ; promotes products)
- News (.com ; CNN, NPR)
- Individual (~ or .name in URL ; varies widely)
- Blogs – personal narratives
- Wikis – sharing of information

Pardee & Parsons, 2008

Plagiarism

- ▶ Using someone else's work as though it is your own, but not giving that other person credit for his/her ideas.
- ▶ Includes:
  - Not citing a quote
  - Not citing a paraphrase (you take someone's idea and put it in your own words)
  - You reuse a paper that you previously wrote for another class and re-present it as though it is original.

APA Citation Assistance

- ▶ Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 6th edition
  - Current standard that APA citations are based on
- ▶ Other APA Assistance:
  - Purdue Online Writing Lab (OWL): <http://owl.english.purdue.edu> – great website to find citation information.
  - APA Style Blog: <http://blog.apastyle.org/> – great place to find updates since the manual publication.

What is a DOI?

- ▶ DOI: 10.1007/s12142-010-0183-6 OR
<http://dx.doi.org/10.1007/s12142-010-0183-6>
- ▶ Digital Object Identifier
  - Provides a permanent link to the cited article
  - Makes it easier to locate article in the future.
- ▶ More stable than using database URLs; databases change frequently.
- ▶ APA manual recommends use for both print and electronic articles, when available. (see pp. 188–192 for more DOI info)

DOI, cont'd

- ▶ What if my DOI is just a number and not a URL?
  - Use this: <http://dx.doi.org/> and type your DOI number in after that.
- ▶ What if I find just a DOI number?
  - You can use CrossRef to find the publisher's webpage that shows the article's publication information (www.crossref.org)
- ▶ What if I have an article, but no DOI?
  - Not all articles have DOIs
  - You can check for one here: <http://www.crossref.org/SimpleTextQuery/>
